SIGNS MARTIN EXTRADITION

Governor Pinchot Gives Approval to Removal of Hymie to Cleveland.

HEARING SET TOMORROW

Will Consider Potter Murder Suspect's Application for Release Writ.

By The Associated Press

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 17—Governor Gifford Pinchot today signed an extradition warrant for the removal of "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin from Pittsburgh to Cleveland to face a murder charge in connection with the killing of William E. Potter, former Cleveland councilman.

The warrant was signed upon the recommendation of Attorney General J. W. Shull, who held a hearing on the application of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, authorities for extradition of the prisoner. Counsel for Martin was unsuccessful in an attempt to prevent extradition on the ground that the man was a victim of mistaken identity.

Potter was slain Feb. 3, in a Cleveland apartment building. Ohio authorities presented an affidavit of a Cleveland policeman who said he saw Martin and another man with Potter near the apartment building shortly before the killing.

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 17—Investigation of the slaying of former Councilman William E. Potter marked time today while authorities prepared for the second round of their fight to return "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin to Cleveland on a first degree murder charge.

Net Draws Tighter

The trail of Pittsburgh Hymie and his Akron sweetheart, Mary Outland, brought them nearer to the hour of the slaying of Potter today, when detectives learned they were in a Kent, O., restaurant the morning of Feb. 4.

John W. Echelberry, Kent merchant policeman, was in Cleveland today and identified photographs of "Hymie" and Mary as those of two persons he saw in the restaurant just a few hours after the murder was believed to have been committed.

Patrick Bottoroff, Jr., night manager of the restaurant, likewise identified the pair.

The next legal tussle will come at Pittsburgh tomorrow when Martin is given a hearing on his application for a writ of habeas corpus. Martin's counsel seek his release on the ground he was ar...

BLAZE IN TENEMENT COSTS THREE LIVES

Two Women, Man Perish in New York Fire; Origin Suspicious.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 — Two women and a man were burned to death early today when flames swirled through a six story brick tenement on the lower east side.

After the fire had subsided, the women's bodies were found in a fifth floor flat and the man's sprawled over the stairway leading to the top floor as though he had attempted to flee to the roof.

The remaining tenants, clad only in night dress and badly frightened, were helped down fire escapes and aerial ladders by police, firemen and neighbors. Eight of them were attended for smoke poisoning and several spectators received first aid after fainting. The neighborhood, highly congested, seethed in near-panic.

Deputy Fire Chief James Heffernan reported that the fire was of suspicion origin. The three upper stories were burned out but the rest of the building suffered little damage.

ROAD LEVY REFUNDS PROVIDED BY BILL

State Senate Passes Measure To Authorize Payments to Farmers.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17—Thousands of Ohio farmers would be put in position to claim millions of dollars from the counties in road assessments if the house approves the action taken by the senate in passing the bill by Senator Walter G. Nickels, Republican of Tuscarawas county.

The bill gives county commissioners authority to refund "excess" assessments which the farmers have paid for main highway improvements or to assume the "excess," paying both from the county general fund. The commissioners would be the judge as to whether the farmers' land has been assessed in excess of the benefits accruing from the improvement of the road.

Senator Nickels says he does not anticipate that county commissioners will adopt any policy for making general refunds or assumption of assessments, but that each farmer applying for relief will have to establish definitely that he has been over assessed. The fact there has been a great depreciation in the value of real estate, especially farm lands, since many of these assessments were levied, will cause many farmers to apply for relief, Senator Nickles said. The bill now goes to the house.

Ohio was nearer a model aviation code today as a result of the house, last night, passing the Johnson bill adopting the regulations of the U. S. Department of Commerce. The salary of director of aeronautics, now $3,600 a year is increased to $5,000 under the bill, which now goes to the senate.

Film Stars on Honeymoon After Dodging "13th" Jinx

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—Secretly married for three days, Charles Farrell, and the former Virginia Valli, screen stars, leave tonight for a European honeymoon. They were married in Yonkers shortly after midnight Saturday.

With the traditional superstition of actor folk, Miss Valli balked at being married on Friday the thirteenth, even if it meant two trips to Yonkers and a midnight wedding to dodge the jinx.

Charles Farrell

Farrel and Miss Valli went to Yonkers Friday, arriving after the usual closing hour of the marriage license bureau but William Corbalis, the clerk, had been informed of their coming and was waiting.

They planned to be married at once, but after the license had been made out Miss Valli suddenly recalled that it was Friday the thirteenth.

The couple and their party returned to New York to await the passing of the jinx. They were married shortly after midnight by the Rev. Ralph Houston, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church at Yonkers.

Virginia Valli

Witnesses included Mrs. John J. Regan who was formerly Alice Joyce Blanche Sweet, Carlton Hockstra, Farrell's manager, and Albert Scott, a friend of Farrell.

Farrell explained to friends that his reason for secrecy was that he wished to be aboard the liner on his honeymoon before news of his marriage reached Hollywood.

The romance dates back about four years to Hollywood's lots. She already was a featured player in Universal pictures. The bride is a native of Chicago, where she was born Virginia Sweeney. It is her second marriage, she having divorced Demarest Lamson several years ago. It is his first venture.

Passerby Discovers Stone Company Worker Sleeping with Clothes Afire.

Special to The Star.

KENTON, O., Feb. 17 — Burns received while he slept in his home south of Forest caused the death today of George Reigle, 81, at McKitrick hospital here.

With his clothes afire Reigle was discovered sleeping in a chair at his home early Monday morning by William Wentz, foreman of the Herzog Lime & Stone Co. at Patterson.

Wentz extinguished the flames and took the injured man to a Forest doctor where it was discovered that he was suffering from serious burns about the face, shoulders and arms. He was taken to the Kenton hospital where he died this morning.

Reigle is believed to have knocked a kerosene lamp from a nearby stand while he slept in the chair. The kerosene running from the lamp started the fire which soon spread to Reigle's clothing. There was no explosion.

The fire was discovered by Wentz a short time after it started. It was extinguished before much damage was done to the house.

Reigle for the last 40 years had been employed by the Herzog company. He lived alone and is survived by a sister, Mrs. G. W. Mannis of Lima, and a niece of Kenton.

Funeral services will be held in the Patterson M. E. church Wednesday at 1 p. m. in charge of Rev. Bower of Forest. Interment will be made in the Patterson cemetery.

The camps are sponsored by the government for the training of the young men of the country, but attendance at them does not obligate a youth to join the army or any other military organization.

All expenses to and from camp and all clothing and equipment at the camp are furnished by the government. Entertainment in the form of movies, fights, dances and sports is furnished at the camp free of charge.

Applications may be filed with Shade at any time before the first camp opens on June 19 at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis. Camp Knox, in Kentucky, will open July 2.

State Introduces New Testimony in Mal S. Daugherty Trial

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Feb 17—Another stack of documentary evidence by which the state hopes to convict Mal S. Daugherty of abstractions of funds of the defunct Ohio state bank was before Judge C. S. Bell today.

Assistant Prosecutor Louis Schneider read an examiner's report which showed the loans made by the bank, of which Daugherty formerly was president, exceeded the legal limit on March 27, several weeks before the institution failed. The report stated that the bank had loaned its officers and directors more than $184,000, although the law limits bank loans to 20 per cent of the surplus and capital stock. The Ohio state bank was capitalized at $200,000.

Of the loans, $52,900 went to Daugherty, according to the report, which also said the bank's reserves were short $75,000.

EXECUTORS APPEAL RAICHLEY DECISION

Briefs Filed with Appellate Court; Contest Ruling on Attorney Fees.

Briefs on behalf of the plaintiff were filed in the third district court of appeals yesterday by counsel for Harry J. Merchant and Clyde C. Smith, executors of the estate of Burt Raichley and plaintiffs-in-error against the Marion Masonic Temple Co.

The appeal is from a decision of probate court, which was substantiated by common pleas court more than a month ago, and which ordered attorneys for the executors to return to the estate approximately $30,000 in fees.

The exceptions taken by the Marion Masonic Temple Co., principal beneficiary of Raichley's will, to payment of these fees led to the suit. The fees were paid for the defense of the Raichley will in various courts, and the Temple company's claim that executors are not responsible for defending a will was upheld by probate and common pleas courts.

Attorneys who were ordered to repay their fees are as follows: John H. Bartram, James H. Eymon, the law firm of Guthery, Strelitz & Guthery, the law firm of Mouser, Young, Mouser & Wiant, and Attorney A. K. Hal, of Upper Sandusky. Part of Eymon's fee of $7,746.33 was held legal inasmuch as he was attorney for the executors.

The firms of Mouser, Young, Mouser & Wiant and Guthery, Strelitz & Guthery are representing the plaintiffs-in-error while the Temple company's attorney is Lyle S. Evans of Chillicothe.

Three Youths in Stolen Car Caught by Police Cruiser Squad.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 17—Three youths, hailing from Canton and Mansfield, fell victims to the Columbus police radio system here early today.

Patrolmen in a radio cruiser questioned the boys—John Marion, 18, and James Martin, 18, both of Canton, and Wesley Wheeler, 18, of Mansfield, as they were seated in a large auto without headlights. One of the boys said the machine was owned by his father.

"Come on now boys you can't fool us with this radio working," said one of the officers. "It told us about you a long time ago." Just then an announcement come from headquarters over the radio. Then young Martin said "that's right you can't fool that thing. We stole the car at Canton last night."

SENATE SET TO SPEED ACTION ON VETS' LOAN

Supporters Would Have Vote Without Consideration by Committee.

AIM TO OVERRIDE VETO

Proposal Ready for Final Stage After Decisive Victory in House.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 — Notice was given in the senate today by Senator Ashurst Democrat, Arizona, that he would ask the senate to begin consideration of the veterans loan relief bill without further action by the senate finance committee.

He first sought to bring the bill, which was passed yesterday by an overwhelming majority in the house, before the senate for action today, but he was blocked by the rules. He then entered the formal motion for discharge of the finance committee, upon which he will ask a vote tomorrow.

After conferring with President Hoover, Senator Moses said today they had discussed the bill for increasing veterans' loans and predicted the legislation would be passed by the senate without delay.

The New Hampshire Republican, an early caller at the White House, did not say what stand the President took in regard to the veterans' legislation, if any.

Speedy Action Sought

A race is on by proponents of the measure to get it to President Hoover ahead of the 10-day period before the close of the session in which he may kill the bill without returning it to congress with a veto.

A powerful majority for the measure is certain in the senate.

Republican leader Watson wanted hearings on the measure in the finance committee. Bluntly Senator Couzens, Republican of Michigan, answered: "We will have no hearings. They aren't necessary."

He predicted the bill would be through with preliminaries and up for senate action by Thursday at the latest, supported by a powerful majority.

The house passed the measure late yesterday afternoon, 363 to 39. The 39 were all Republicans, staunch old timers who stuck to the administration, led by Majority Leader Tilson and Chairman Hawley of the ways and means committee. In all 216 Republicans followed Speaker Longworth to support the bill, joined by every Democrat present and the one Farmer-Labor member.

Backers Jubilant

Supporters of the measure, sponsored by Representative Bacharach Republican of New Jersey, were jubilant over recording a vote far in excess of the two thirds required to override a veto. They were confident that if after passage by the senate President Hoover added his formal disapproval to that already recorded by Secretary Mellon, they would pass it again. The adjusted compensation act of 1924—the present bill amends it to enlarge veterans' borrowing power to 50 per cent of the certificates' face value—was passed over President Hoover's veto, 313 to 78.

The measure reduces the rate of interest on such loans to 4½ per cent compound annually and allows a veteran with a $1,000 certificate to borrow $500. The bill increases the total loan value of the 3,400,000 outstanding certificates to $1,712,500,000.

GANDHI VOICES HOPE OF PEACE

Issues Most Cheerful Statement in Months After Meeting Viceroy.

IS "EVEN OPTIMISTIC"

Negotiations Recessed Until Tomorrow as He Goes Back to Spinning.

By the Associated Press.

NEW DELHI, India, Feb 17 - Mahatma Gandhi, emerging from a four-hour conference with Viceroy Lord Irwin this afternoon, made the most cheerful pronouncement regarding the prospects for eventual agreement in India that he has made in months.

"I'm satisfied, even optimistic," the little brown man said, adding that he will talk again with the viceroy tomorrow.

The negotiations which could have begun this morning were postponed until early afternoon so that Gandhi might finish his spinning, a rite he carries out daily to symbolize the necessity of the boycott against British-made cloth.

Viceroy Lord Irwin hoped in the negotiations to persuade Gandhi to call off the civil disobedience campaign and collaborate in the working out of a federation and dominion status for India in pursuance of the plans evolved at the Indian round table conference.

Gandhi, his mind opened to conviction in recent conversations with Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and M. R. Jayakar, friends who attended the London conference, went prepared to seek liberation of the thousands of Indian political prisoners in India and other concessions which he regards as vital to the well being of India's masses.

No Security

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Feb. 17—Now here is something you mustn't get wrong. The government Saturday passed a bill to appropriate $20,000,000 as a loan to farmers in the drouth area, but it was to be loaned on security.

Now the man and his family that are hungry down there have no security, if he had any security he wouldn't be hungry, he would have already put it up.

So this loan has not relieved the people that the Red Cross has been feeding at all, they have got to go on being fed by the Red Cross, so you towns that have been so slow in raising your quota, because you have been waiting on the government to see what they would do, get busy and raise it. They have got to be fed till a new crop is raised, and when they raise it, the last one is still in this country, it hasn't been sold yet, but no town can possibly have an excuse now for not doing their part.

DICTATORSHIP IS SEEN IN NEW SPANISH CRISIS

Failure of Guerra To Organize Cabinet Creates State of Confusion.

MILITARY ACTION FEARED

Possibility of Sudden Coup by Army Insurgents Confronts Nation.

By The Associated Press.

MADRID, Feb. 17—A military movement, apparently intended to attempt the establishmen of a military dictatorship, began late this afternoon.

Two artillery units near Madrid mounted long range guns and trained them up on the capital. Civil guards were being mobilized throughout the city this afternoon.

Machine guns were placed in all strategic points and troops were held in their barracks in readiness for action if it should become necessary.

A group of high army officers, reported to be disgusted because the king seemed to be yielding to the left, were reported preparing to seize the power and repeat the coup by which Primo de Rivera seized the dictatorship.

Guerra Mission Fails

A new crisis, in which loomed the threat of a military dictatorship, was thrust upon Spain today with failure of Jose Antonio Sanchez Guerra to form a government on a basis of liberal constitutional revision.

Sanchez Guerra, designated by King Alfonso yesterday to get together a cabinet, went to the palace at noon today and informed the king he had been unable to secure the collaboration of the Republicans and Socialists, radical left groups, and would have to renounce his task.

Would Call on Alvarez

He advised the king to call upon Melquiades Alvarez, another advocate of constitutional revision to limit the powers of the throne, and leader of the "reformist" group of the Spanish conservative party. Alvarez, if anything, would be regarded more radical than Sanchez Guerra, whose designation by the king yesterday was regarded by monarchists as a surrender to the extremists.

The development, which came with astonishing suddenness, threw the political situation into the utmost confusion and made developments extremely uncertain. Madrid was quiet, but alive with rumors of military action, none of which could be confirmed.

Military Clique Restless

A large military clique is extremely dissatisfied with yesterday's events, which they consider constitutes an unnecessary surrender by the king of royal prorogative, and it was easily within the bounds of possibility today that some section of the group would attempt a coup d'etat to re-establish a dictatorship similar to that of the late General Primo de Rivera.

CONDEMNED WOMAN HOPEFUL OF MERCY

Irene Schroeder Awaits Pardon Board's Decision on Death Penalty.

By The Associated Press

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Feb. 17—On the twenty-second anniversary of her birth today, Irene Schroeder awaited the meeting tomorrow of the state board of pardons that may recommend clemency for her or death in the electric chair next Monday for the killing of a state highway patrolman.

Mrs. Schroeder was hopeful, she told relatives, that the pardon board would recommend life imprisonment for her and W. Glenn Dague, her bandit companion, rather than death penalties imposed for the slaying of Corporal Brady Paul near here in 1929.

The board's recommendations will be presented to Governor Gifford Pinchot with whom alone rests the decision of whether they shall live or die. The board's decision is in no way binding upon the governor.

Relatives visited the young woman prisoner in the Lawrence county jail here as she awaited the state's final decision on the penalty she must pay. Her small son, Donie, has been here for several weeks and has been permitted to see his mother frequently in her cell.

Mrs. Schroeder was 20 years old when a career of banditry she and Dague engaged in was climaxed with the killing of the highway patrol corporal.

If Mrs. Schroeder is electrocuted next Monday, the date set for execution of the sentences, she will be the first woman to die in such a manner in Pennsylvania.

"Whoopee" Effects Shown by New Wobbles Meter

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Feb. 17 — Better be careful how much whoopee you make the night before, because your boss can find you out by testing your "morning-after" wobbles.

You can't pretend you have had enough rest, for the "wobble" meter is certain to give you away.

So it was announced today by R. W. Brown, head of the engineering research laboratory of the Firestone Tire & Rubber company, who developed the meter principally for industry to test its man power and automobile manufacturers to test the fatiguing effect of joy ride jolts. It was developed at the suggestion of Dr. F. A. Moss, George Washington university psychologist.

Purpose Explained

"We intend using the meter to measure the amount of energy we can get out of our employes and adjust their jobs accordingly," Brown said. "Automobile manufacturers can use it to take out the vibrations from automobiles that tire you and leave those that are restful.

"It can be used to determine the comparative fatiguing or relaxation values of jazz and classical music. One of the things it has already uncovered for us is that absolute silence is tiring.

"It has revealed the effect of age on fatigue. It has found we tire the least at the ages of 10 and 11, when the muscles are fairly well developed and the mind has done but little worrying. It has also discovered that women have more poise than men."

How It Operates

The "wobble" meter consists of a low platform which teeter-totters in two directions—sidewise and from front to back. When you stand on it, you continually shift your weight from one leg to the other, swaying the body. The more tired you are the more rapidly you sway.

The sways, or "wobbles" are added up by two little meters on the platform, and the amount is in direct proportion to your fatigue.

Laughter Good Medicine Speaker Tells Rotarians

"Laugh more. It's good for you and doesn't cost anything. Laughter is the lubricant of life; it is not a luxury but a necessity."

Those are a few of the words of Charles Milton Newcomb of Delaware, whose talk on "The Psychology of Laughter" featured a "ladies' night" party of the Marion Rotary club in Hotel Harding ballroom last night.

Law of Laughter

"This is a universe of laws, Newcomb said. "Let us," he continued, "consider the laws of laughter.

"Our civilization is different from the life of the primitive because of social laws and restraints made to permit people to live sociably together. Observing these laws and mannerisms creates a tension.

"Laughter is an escape from civilization, from the laws, manners, modes and customs. We all occasionally want to escape from this tension. Laughter is the best method.

"There are three fundamental laws governing laughter. Slips and lapses from the established order of things produces laughter. Second, we do not laugh at serious violations of the laws of order, only the slight or apparent slips. Third, we must know the established order of things in order to appreciate these slips and lapses."

It May Be Serious

Illustrating the first and second laws, he used the example of a man falling on the ice. If he falls, we involuntarily laugh—it is a literal slip, he said. If, however, he is badly injured as a result of the fall, we do not laugh.

Among situations jokes are based on exaggeration, misunderstanding, antagonistic, repartee and the unexpected, Newcomb said.

Laughter exercises the diaphragm and relaxes the muscles and mind, he said.

His address followed a banquet in the ballroom at 7 p. m. An orchestra furnished music during the dinner. Singing was in charge of D. A. Howard. A committee in charge of the program included Mr. and Mrs. Arden Millisor, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Howard and Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Rosenberg.

Games and contests followed Newcomb's talk.

IN COURT CASE

Because she is alleged to have tied her children, Robert, 5, and Phyllis, 4, to a bedpost in her Royal Oak, Detroit suburban home when she left for work, Mrs. Consuelo St. Marie, a stenographer, may lose them. The probate court will determine.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS WILL VISIT EUROPE

Mrs. Eymon and Mrs. Francis Will See Sons' Graves This Summer.

Two Marion gold-star mothers will make the trip to Europe this summer to visit the graves of their sons who died in action during the World War.

The two, Mrs. J. H. Eymon of 572 South Vine street and Mrs. Chester Francis of 208 Kensington place, yesterday filed application for passports at the office of Clerk of Courts Everett B. Grigsby in the court house.

They are to sail on the George Washington from New York harbor on May 6, along with hundreds of other war mothers who will be guests of the United States government on the entire trip, all expenses of which will be borne by the government.

The gold-star mother trips to Europe were begun by the government last year.

Special to The Star.

MT. GILEAD, Feb. 17—C. F. [illegible] a representative of the [illegible] of the Columbia Gas System serving Mt. Gilead, presented a franchise to city council last night. The new franchise is for a period of 25 years with provision for rate changes by consent of the company and the council.

The council has not as yet acted on the proposed franchise consideration its details were not disclosed. The company is now collecting rates under bond, Mt. Gilead being one of the cities involved in the gas rate controversy instituted against the Logan Gas Co. was absorbed by Columbia.

It is understood that the rates provided in the new contract are slightly higher than the present rates and for this reason the council is not expected to approve it. PROSPECT-BAPTIST GAME TOPS S. S. SKED

CHURCH BASKETBALL CONTESTS THIS WEEK LACK USUAL COLOR

Presbyterians Likely To Cinch Championship Saturday Night .

GAMES this week in the Y-Church basketball league take on a decidedly duller hue, now that the race for first place is practically completed. The usual six games are on the books, three for tonight and another trio for Saturday but none promises to be other than ordinary contests.

Headlining the trio tonight will be the Prospect-Trinity Baptist encounter at 7:15. This game is likely to produce a better brand of competition than any of the other games this week.

Trinity Should Win

Trinity at present holds an advantage over the Prospect quintet in games won and lost, the former having been victorious on five occasions while it has lost but four. For Prospect the situation is exactly the reverse, they having won four and dropped five. The Baptists should come through the game with another victory to their credit.

Christian No. 1 will more than likely hand the Lee Street Presbyterians a first class beating. Lee Street is not very strong while the Christians have a better than average club. If Gillis, Gilmore and Dulin play in the game it will probably be one-sided.

Calvary Evangelical, who is pushing St. Mary's for the cellar post honors is all set to take another beating at the hands of First Reformed tonight. Reformed is not the strongest team in the league but Calvary does not figure to offer it serious opposition.

Title at Stake

Although not likely to be very hotly contested the encounter between the First Presbyterian and United Brethren Saturday night will probably hold as much interest as any game scheduled for the week. The Presbies need only to win this game to cinch beyond dispute their claim to the league championship. They are now assured of a tie for the title as a result of nine straight victories.

The U. B. five may give them a fairly good game inasmuch as three of the first string lineup of the Presbyterians are expected to be out of the lineup. Keller, Roush and Lockwood are not likely to appear on the Y floor Saturday.

The other two games Saturday night will see Waldo playing St. Mary in what may evolve into a rough and tumble battle before it is far under way. St. Mary will probably take its tenth straight beating.

Epworth M. E. will clash with Christian No. 2 in the final game Saturday. The Methodists are stronger than the Christians and will probably maintain their high standing in the league.

SPORTS

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

WHAT happened Ohio University? Before the start of the basketball season and for some time after the opening the Bobcats were bemoaning the fact they did not have any lettermen of note and few promising newcomers to represent the school on the Buckeye conference hardwood this season. The Grover-coached team was almost unanimously picked to finish the race in the cellar or very near it.

With the season nearly completed the Ohioans are found in the enviable post of runner-up in the circuit. Before another week goes by they may find themselves reposing on top of the heap. Should Ohio Wesleyan falter Wednesday and allow Denison to beat them Ohio has a chance to come through for second major sports title of the school year. The Bobcats won the football championship of the Buckeye group last fall

While Ohio University has been upsetting the works by battering its way to near the top in the Buckeye conference, Marion Harding has been disappointing its followers week after week by its showings against North Central Ohio League opponents.

Conditions in the Bohyer camp before the start of the season were generally conceded to be quite rosy. Five lettermen were back from last year. None of them had ever burned up the circuit but with the experience gained last year the players were expected to at least perform in a fairly capable manner.

They haven't done it. Why? Your guess is as good as mine. On only one occasion this season have the Presidents shown anything other than mediocre basketball. There have been times when they have not even performed in a mediocre manner.

Competition in the N. C. O league this season is not especially fast. Mansfield is weak, Bucyrus is even worse and Galion, Shelby and Ashland are not world beaters by any matter of means. Ashland, the league leader, has won more games by stalling than anything else. In fact, Coach Rosie Starn has developed an aggregation that is a master at the stalling art.

It is quite probbie the Ashland spectators have booed and hissed on numerous occasions at the sight of the home team refusing to advance the ball into offensive territory but this will all be forgotten when the championship pennant is nailed to the wall of the Ashland school.

• • •

Still the question, "What happened to Harding?" is unanswered. It looks like it would be for some time.

SOLDIERS WIN

Company B Defeats Prospect at Armory 38 to 26.

Company B basketball team last night added another team to its increasing list of victims when it defeated Prospect on the Armory court 38 to 26. The winners led all of the game. The score at the half was 23 to 10. Prospect spurted in the third period and brought the score to within one point of a tie but could not stand the pace.

Jimmie Conarty has taken over the coaching reins of the Soldiers. Any one wishing games get in touch with Art Amick at 8822.

Company B will play Galion at the armory Wednesday night. The Marion Business college girls will play the prelim with a Galion girls team.

CHICK TRAINING FOR BANASKI BOUT HERE NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Challenger for Light Heavyweight Title Must Remove 7 Pounds Excess Weight.

BY KARL R. McELROY

"DUDE" Chick has entered upon a week of intensified training in preparation for his assault on the light heavyweight wrestling crown now adorning the brow of Joe Banaski. Chick and Banaski will meet Monday night at the Steam Shovel gym in one of the season's choicest mat programs.

In starting his training schedule Chick faces a rather tough proposition in taking off seven or eight pounds of excess weight before entering the ring here. When he weighs in Monday at 3 p. m. he must not tip the scales past the 175-pound mark.

Taking off the weight in itself is not much of a problem but to do it without a great sacrifice in strength is a matter that requires more than just a moment of consideration. Chick realizes that he will need every bit of strength he can muster if he is to give Banaski more than an even bid for his money.

Chick has turned to Coach Beers of Purdue university to give him the finishing touches of training. Beers is a recognized conditioner of athletes and an expert when it comes to mat generalship.

The Texas cowboy is an unusual wrestling character. He probably holds the record for being disqualified. In his last 65 starts he lost 28 through unnecessary roughness and the like. Chick and the referees never have been able to get along. The Texan is inclined to turn on the third man in the thick of a mat bout if things get to going a little too hot.

Facing a chance to win the championship Chick is likely to think twice before he starts in on a rampage. As his style is inclined towards roughness the match will have its share of thrills and exciting moments

Ohio Wesleyan Ends Conference Play Wednesday

DELAWARE, Ohio, Feb. 17 – With its chance for at least a half interest in the Buckeye conference basketball championship at stake, Ohio Wesleyan will meet Denison here Wednesday night in the final game of the Bishops conference season. Ohio Wesleyan will close its session with a non-conference game against Western Reserve here Saturday.

An Ohio Wesleyan victory Wednesday night will insure the Bishops of at least a tie with Ohio for the conference championship. Should Ohio lose to either Cincinnati Wednesday night or to Denison February 27, the Bishops would have a clear title. A Denison victory over the Bishops Wednesday night would leave the conference basketball race in a final scramble with Ohio the leader and favorite.

An interesting feature of the clash between the Bishops and Denison will be the fact that the game will bring together two of the high scorers of the conference, Eric Gandrup, Bishop forward, who is now the leading scorer, and Otto Walker, Denison, who after leading conference scorers for several weeks has now dropped back to second place.

Reformed Church Team Beats Business College

The First Reformed Sunday school basketball team defeated the Marion Business College team last night on the Steam Shovel court by a score of 21 to 14.

SHOVEL Y-INDUS HAS LITTLE DIFFICULTY IN DEFEATING CRESTLINE

Local Champs Run Wild To Gain 49-18 Victory on Shovel Court.

AFTER getting off to a rather slow start at the opening of the game with Crestline last night on the Shovel gym court the Shovel Y-Indus basketeers suddenly speeded up and handed the Crestline Crescent club a 49 to 18 walloping.

Crestline threatened at the start to make an interesting game out of it. A quartet of points were dropped through the net to give the visitors a four point lead before the home team could garner a single tally.

Bill Keller, Y-Indus guard, then slipped through for a basket and started an attack which completely overwhelmed the invaders.

The passwork of the Y-Indus clicked in good fashion most of the game. Fisher, a forward, played the best game for the losers, his work being the only bright spot of the Crestline aggregation.

One Minor Change in Grid Rules Next Year

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—Except for one minor change, the nation's football rules-makers have decided to let the code alone for at least another year.

After a week-end of discussion at Absecon, N. J., the rules committee announced the only change would be the removal from the code of the arbitrary award of disallowal, of the point after touchdown when an offside is called.

Instead, such an offense will be treated just as it would should it occur in any ordinary scrimmage. Hereafter if the defending team is offside it will be penalized half the distance to the goal line and the point tried over. If the attacking team commits the offense, it will be set back five yards and the point tried from the seven yard line.

Veteran Spitballer Aims at "Total Wins" Record

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 17—Burleigh Grimes himself is authority for the statement the baseball record books a few years hence will have an entry reading something like this:

"Most pitching victories, National league, Burleigh Grimes—former record by Grover Cleveland Alexander, 373."

Ready for his sixteenth consecutive year in the National league and with 312 victories to his credit, the pugnacious old spitballer believes his right arm is still good for "three or four or five" years more, by which time he expects to have won the additional 62 games he needs to break Alex the Great's record.

Grimes has more victories to his credit than any other pitcher now in the majors. His nearest rival is the tall Cincinnati southpaw, Eppa Rixey, who has 251 mound triumphs scattered over a period of 18 seasons. Rixey, who will be 40 in May, is more than two years older than Grimes. During his 15 years in the National, Burleigh has lost 180 games, giving him 132 more victories than defeats.

If his last season's record is any criterion—Burleigh should be able to put a baseball over the plate and make unkind remarks about opposing batters' ears with some degree of success for quite some time. After winning three and losing five for the Boston Braves, Grimes came to the Cardinals in June and proceeded to win 13 while losing six for a 16-11 record for the year.

This year Grimes hopes for a much better start and just as good a finish. Jess Joseph Haines, as old as Burleigh, but with four years less service in the National and Grimes will start their spring training at Hot Springs, Ark., today.

STAR IS LOST

Ohio University Title Hopes Lessened as Lockman is Hurt.

By United Press.

ATHENS, O., Feb. 17—Ohio University's chances to win the Buckeye conference basketball championship were given a severe setback today when it was learned that George Lockman, of Hamilton, veteran forward, probably would be lost to the team the rest of the season. Lockman sprained his ankle in the game against Miami Saturday night.

The Bobcats are only a half-game behind the league leading Ohio Wesleyan team and have two more games. They will play the University of Cincinnati Wednesday and Denison o Feb. 27. A victory in each of these games would assure a tie with Ohio Wesleyan for the title, even though the Wesleyanites defeat Denison tomorrow night.

RAY CONGER BEATEN BY UNKNOWN RUNNER

Illinois A. C. Flier Loses to Carl Coan of Penn.; Record Is Threatened.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—A new miler has come out of the University of Pennsylvania to run the fourth fastest eight furlongs in indoor track history and give Ray Conger, Illinois A. C. flier, his first defeat at the distance since 1928.

He is Carl A. S. Coan, Penn senior, and he picked the New York A. C. games in Madison Square Garden last night for the greatest triumph of his career.

A comparative unknown, Coan trailed the field in the Baxter mile as first George Bullwinkle, College of the City of New York, and then Conger set a blistering pace. On the last lap, Coan, still fresh and strong, raced up to Conger's shoulder, shot past the exhausted middle western ace and broke the tape in four minutes, 13 seconds. Conger, staggering all over the track, was nipped at the finish line by Gene Venzke of New York.

Conger previously had won 12 straight races and had not been beaten at the mile since Lloyd Hahn turned the trick in 1928.

Coan's time was only a second behind the world's indoor record of 4:12 held jointly by Paavo Nurmi of Finland and Joie Ray of Chicago.

Coan's performance overshadowed another sensational victory by the crack Bates college half-miler, Russell Chapman. Outfooting a field that included Seraphin Martin of France, Phil Edwards of Canada and Dr. Paul Martin of Switzerland, Chapman broke the tape in 1:52 4-5 seconds.

How to End RHEUMATISM
New Medicine Drives Rheumatic Poisons from Joints and Muscles
EASES PAIN FIRST DAY

Poisons in the blood settling in the joints and muscles cause rheumatism. You cannot get rid of rheumatic agony till every trace of these dangerous poisons is driven out of your system. That's why external remedies and pain deadening drugs only give temporary relief.

What you need is RU-MA the new medicine that acts directly on the liver, stomach and blood, and expels through the natural channels of elimination the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatic misery.

No long waiting for your suffering to stop. RU-MA eases pain the first day and is the one rheumatism remedy guaranteed to free muscles and joints from all painful stiffness, swelling and lameness.

Henney & Cooper has so much confidence in RU-MA that they want every rheumatic in town to try it and guarantee money-back if it does not end rheumatism.—Adv.

PURPLE FIVE UPSET BY ILLINOIS QUINTET

Defeat Puts Northwestern Back Wtihin Reaching Distance of Opponents.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17—Minnesota's basketball squad today was thanking Illinois for dragging Northwestern back to within reaching distance in the Western conference race.

The Illini, going nowhere in particular themselves, have turned to perpetrating upsets, and accomplished the biggest one last night by trouncing Northwestern, 35 to 28, on the Wildcats' own floor. The defeat was Northwestern's first in eight starts, but it left Minnesota which trimmed Purdue, 30 to 26, just one game behind—and Northwestern and Minnesota meet at Minneapolis next Monday night

While Illinois was mussing up the situation, Chicago and Iowa improved their positions. A field goal and a successful shot by Harry Ashley, Chicago guard, in the final ten seconds of play, gave the Maroons a 26 to 25 decision over Ohio State, while another Frank Merriwell finish enabled Iowa to defeat Wisconsin, 19 to 17, at Iowa City. With the score tied, Russ Rebholz, Wisconsin guard, fouled Charles Williamson, Iowa forward, just as the final gun sounded. Williamson pitched both free throws.

STOCKS TAKE DOWN TREND

Smoke Screen of Bullish Activity Gives Way to Liquidation Movement.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—Despite a screen of bullish activity in some moving issues, the stock market encountered substantial selling today, and after mid-day trend turned unmistakably downward.

The market fluctuated widely during the morning, and several issues were rushed up 4 to 7 points but the so-called pivotal issues were heavily sold a point or more above yesterday's final prices by midday slid off to losses of a point or two. In the afternoon, the bond market weakened under moderate selling pressure as bankers interpreted the progress of the soldier bonus legislation measure as foreshadowing a large volume of government financing.

In conservative quarters, the unprofessional character of the recent advance has been regarded with some disfavor. Bullish activity has been most conspicuous in issues most easily manipulated in several cases seemingly out of relative of earnings prospects of the corporations represented. Furthermore, there has been a feeling that the quiet backsliding of the past week had been insufficient to intrench the market at a sufficiently low level, and that the bull movement was getting out of hand.

Nevertheless, brokerage house opinion remained mildly optimistic, with the main anticipating some extension of the rally after a technical reaction. While business reports do not provide any conclusive evidence that March and April will bring the expected business upturn, sentiment among business executives has improved markedly and the growing conviction that the depression has at least touched bottom. A business survey being finished for the private information of the directors of a large investment company indicates this improved sentiment as one of the most marked developments.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meat, Grain, Livestock

Head lettuce was scarcer and more expensive today following rains in California, where the present local supply is now obtained. The heavy rainfall made it impossible for growers to get in the patches to pick the head lettuce. The scarcity is temporary.

Florida celery has substituted for California varieties, and is slightly higher because of heavy frosts. The price range is now 10 to 15 cents a stalk.

Leaf lettuce remains at normal quotation of 15 cents a pound or two pounds for 25 cents

FOREIGN GAINS FAIL TO HELP

Grain Prices Slump at Chicago Despite Liverpool Upturns.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 17—Despite upturns in Liverpool quotations grains here average lower early today. Additional moisture in domestic winter wheat territory tended further to dispel drouth fears and acted as more than a counter-balance for reports of decreasing European water stocks and reduction of estimates of the Argentine exportable surplus. Opening ¾ cents off to ⅛-¼ up, wheat later scored slight general gains but soon sagged. Corn started at ¼ decline to ¼ advance, and afterward rose all around but then receded.

Nervous fluctuations, but within a narrow range, prevailed much of the time both in wheat and corn. Liberal primary receipts of each of the leading cereals favored the selling side, but price setbacks brought about increased buying and consequent rallies

Acting as a check on sellers of wheat was the fact that rains over the domestic winter crop belt had been less generous than expected, and that most of Kansas apparently failed to receive sufficient moisture. Primary arrivals of wheat totaled 1,058,000 bushels, against 776,000 a year ago. Chicago received 163 cars of corn, compared with 108 a week back. Oats followed corn.

Provisions tended upward owing to absence of selling pressure

GATHER AT ALTAR

Prayer and Consecration Service Marks M. E. Church Revival.

At the close of the services last night at the Prospect Street M. E. church, the congregation almost as a whole, gathered at the altar for a service of consecration and prayer. Mrs Edna Beougher Hughes of Lancaster, evangelist, who is holding services at the church, preached last night on "The Task of the Church." The task, according to Mrs. Hughes, is to bring folks to Jesus.

"To accomplish this task the people in the church must cooperate. It may also be necessary to do the unusual. You must know yourself and be out and out for Christ himself," she said in broadening her statement on the task of the church. "To this task the church should devote itself passionately and persistently."

Robert Swisher sang two solos. "Rock of Ages" and "Jesus is Calling." Tonight Mrs. Hughes will sing several selections, playing her accompaniment on the autoharp.

KIMBERLING, Va.—Enormous bear footprints seen in the snow near Kimberling creek brought out all the bear hunters in Bland county. The bear, however was not found. It is a rarity to find bear tracks at this time of the year, during which the animals usually hibernate.

Ohio Boy Amazes Mother

"Marion's stomach was often upset and he suffered a lot with headaches," says Mrs. F. Messeldine, 7031 Zoeter Ave., Cleveland. "He was feverish and his breath was bad. I found he was constipated.

"A friend told me about California Fig Syrup, so I got some for Marion. It surely surprised me to see how quickly it stopped his feverishness, cleared his breath and tongue, regulated his bowels; made him a strong and energetic boy again."

The quick, safe way to cleanse and regulate the bowels of bilious, headachy, constipated children is with California Fig Syrup. Give it at the first sign of bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness or feverishness. Every child loves its rich, fruity flavor and it acts without griping or discomfort. Appetite is increased by its use; digestion is assisted; weak stomach and bowels are given tone and strength.

For fifty years, doctors have endorsed this pure vegetable product. The genuine is always marked by the word California. Look for that when buying or you may get an imitation.

AMAZING RELIEF FROM INDIGESTION
Can be obtained in from two to five minutes by taking a little "Bisurated" Magnesia immediately after eating or whenever pain is felt. Thousands who have tried it say there is nothing like "Bisurated" Magnesia for indigestion, gastritis, acidity or dyspepsia. This is because it neutralizes the dangerous excess stomach acid, sweetens the sour fermenting food and soothes and protects the sore inflamed stomach lining—thus quickly stopping gas, burning feeling and pain, and giving nature a chance ot restore painless, normal digestion. Get a test package—either powder or handy tablets—from Henney & Cooper or the nearest reliable drug store, take as directed, and forget you ever had indigestion.—Adv.

PASTOR ADVOCATES DELUGE OF ALCOHOL

Says Cost Distribution for Week at All Filling Stations Would Win for Prohibition.

By The Associated Press

MACON, Ga., Feb. 17—All the alcoholic liquor every one wants for a week, distributed at cost by all filling stations in the country, is Dr. Bascom Anthony's idea of the best way to popularize prohibition.

"If I were King Bascom Anthony, imperial dictator of these United States," the 75-year-old circuit-rider of the Methodist church, South told a Baptist congregation here last night, "I'd let everybody have all they want for a week and then issue a statement that I would do the same thing in 10 years. I would be so besieged with petitions that there never would be any more doubt that the prohibition law is a good thing."

Although he expressed belief that talk of "necking, drinking and women smoking" is exaggerated, and quoted figures to show that "less than one-tenth of one per cent of co-educational students are disciplined for drinking" he admitted that "the wets have had the better of us for the past two or three years."

"A lot is charged to us by the wet press that ought not to be charged to us," he said. "This crime wave, for example, is a reaction from the World war. The government shows us by figures on millions of men whose intelligence was tested that over 75 per cent of the men in this country are 16 and less under the hatches. So the great bulk of us have to be governed by custom. We just run in ruts. War breaks up all these ruts and the world has to wear some new ones."

Local Man Vies With Adding Machine for Speed and Accuracy in Calculation

B. F. Waples Can Run Column of Figures Three Times as Fast as Average.

BY GILSON WRIGHT
Marion Star Staff Writer

AN ADDING machine is one of the modern inventions which B. F. Waples, 78, clerk of Marion township, has no use.

Waples, his friends say, can add three times as rapidly as the average person and his results, they assert, are as accurate as if they had been figured on a machine.

But even Waples' reputation as an expert with figures was disputed back in 1884, the year he was county auditor. A human adding machine a man who could cover a list of figures even more rapidly than a machine, came here to teach his methods to any who cared to enroll in his class.

Reign Contested

He took long strings of figures, moved his eyes rapidly over them and then told Waples just how much they totaled. To Waples' astonishment, the man was right in every instance.

"He read figures just as a person reads words," Waples explains. "Instead of spelling out a word as we read, we see the word at a glance and know just what it means. That man did the same with figures. He grouped them rapidly as he went up and down the various columns."

No one signed up for the man's proposed class, however, and he left the city for other parts, leaving Waples to reign once more as the local mathematics wizard.

Although he is 78 years of age, Waples still is active and every day is at his job of township clerk in an office located at 115½ South Main street over the Kinney shoe store.

As clerk, Waples' duties necessitate much work with figures, for he handles funds for roads, charity and cemeteries in the township. He also keeps records of the meetings of the township trustees who are J. E. Campbell, J. F. Crissinger and David Morral.

Has Wide Experience

This is Waples' sixth year as clerk. Prior to taking his present position he was associated with the late Charles Gompf in the real estate business. Gompf died four years ago Waples continued to use the same office as his headquarters.

Waples has led a life that is far from monotonous. He has been clerk of LaRue village, clerk of Montgomery township, clerk in a general store, dry goods merchant, county auditor, city councilman, member of public service and park boards, member of school board, banker, manufacturer, stone producer and operator of a picture show.

The picture show, however, was not of the "movie" variety. It was back in 1872 that Waples went into this venture with the late Tom Leonard of LaRue. The two purchased a stereoptican machine and for more than a year traveled through Ohio, Indiana and Illinois where they gave showings of Biblical scenes, comic pictures and photographs of scenical spots throughout the world. Their light, which projected the images on their own portable screen, was furnished by carbide lamps.

Born in October, 1852, in a log cabin in Wyandot county, Waples moved into Marion county in 1853 when his father and family built a log cabin and cleared the timber from the farm now occupied and owned by Horace Cookston, former state representative, south of Meeker. Meeker at the time was known as Scott Town and was named after Waples' grandfather Herman Scott. Waples has been a resident of the county since that time.

He was married in 1874 at LaRue, and after spending several years in that village as its clerk and as the clerk of Montgomery township, he moved with his wife and daughter to Marion in 1879. He has lived here since.

Managed Stone Firm

After coming to Marion Waples became affiliated with the H. B. Lucas dry goods store and later served as county auditor.

His business connections included 15 years as manager and salesman for the Norris & Christian Lime & Stone Co.; a period of time with the Marion Manufacturing Co., of which he was president and one of the incorporators; another period of time with the Malleable Iron Co., which later became the American Malleable Casting Co., and of which he was superintendent as well as an incorporator; the Marral Banking Co., of which he was one of the organizers, and the Marion Savings Bank, of which he was cashier for 19 years.

Waples is active in hunting and fishing, and because of his interest he handles thousands of applications for hunting and fishing licenses each year. Last year, his best, he sold 3,124 hunting licenses and 293 fishing licenses.

Waples' wife died six years ago. He lives with his daughter, Mrs. Carrie M. Raub of 192 Pearl street, and has five grandchildren as well as three great grandchildren. The grandchildren are Ben T. Wiant of 415 South Grand avenue; Robert Raub of Muncie, Ind.; Aultman Raub of Forest street, and Elizabeth and Jane Raub, at home.

COMPARE

Compare the values, prices and service we give you with those of any other tire dealer or distributor of special brands.

Six thousand, nine hundred and twenty eight new dealers joined us last year to give you Firestone's great value, and establish a standard service for the automobile owner. This increases our force of Firestone service-giving tire dealers to over 25,000.

The low prices of rubber and cotton give Firestone unusual advantages due to their world-wide facilities in securing these raw materials and their efficient manufacturing. With Firestone's most economical distributing system, with over 600 branches, warehouses and service stores, we can secure a complete line of fresh Firestone tires, tubes, batteries, brake lining, rims and accessories within a few minutes' to a few hours' time and give our customers values and service that are not duplicated.

COMPARE VALUES

Firestone has this year added more rubber to the tread which gives 20% to 25% more safe mileage before the tread wears smooth.

The Firestone Double Cord Breaker gives you SIX and EIGHT plies under the tread—spreads road shocks—lessens punctures—gives over 50% stronger union between tread and tire body which ensures longer tire-life and greater safety.

Live rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber by the patented Gum-Dipping process—thus not only every cord, but every fiber within the cords, is insulated; this gives you 25% to 40% added tire life.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, Feb. 18

THE astral forces for this day operate to bring lively and interesting conditions, with much stirring about, change and fresh opportunities for advancement and growth. It is time for pushing for favors and toward the goal of the ambitions but with restraint and sagacity. A tendency to rash and impetuous moves would be detrimental. Also it is suggested that precaution be exercised against fraud and duplicity as well as subtle dangers.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for an active and eventful year, with fresh opportunities for advancement and prosperity but they are enjoined to be on guard against duplicity, fraud and secret machinations and also to refrain from impetuous actions and words. Good judgment and calm methods should make for gratifying success and happy fruitions. A child born on this day may be well equipped for a successful and progressive career, but should be schooled in calm behavior and self-restrain as well as to be alert for subtle enmities.

COURT ACTS ON FOUR CASES

Criminal Charges Disposed of by Dismissal by Judge Martin.

Four criminal actions in municipal court were disposed of with dismissal and suspended sentences by Judge William R. Martin yesterday afternoon. Another case was carried over to this afternoon for hearing following a not guilty plea.

A charge of disorderly conduct brought against Mrs. Helen Dixon by William Dixon was dismissed at time for hearing. Dixon charged his wife became abusive at their home and charged her with creating a disturbance. She was placed under a six months suspended sentence to prevent further outbreaks.

Must Pay $25

Hayes Thomas, colored, charged with theft of $25 worth of lumber from the fairgrounds was released under a suspended 30-day jail sentence to guarantee payment for the lumber. He was warned against further offenses. Action was brought against him by Carl W. Sifritt, secretary of the fair board.

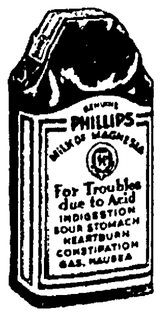
Thomas pleaded not guilty when arraigned Saturday, but was ordered to pay for the lumber when found guilty.

A new action grew out of the charge of Bernard Flannigan against William Smith, when Smith was brought in for hearing on a charge of pointing firearms.

Charges Dismissed

Flannigan charged Smith flourished a shotgun when Flannigan attempted to collect an account for a local credit clothing store recently. Mrs. Smith yesterday charged Flannigan with assault in connection with the attempted collection. Judge Martin dismissed charges against both Flannigan and Smith when it developed in the hearing that Smith had grabbed a gun after Flannigan had threatened to obtain a gun when Mrs. Smith prevented him from entering the house.

P. F. Little, 63, of 140 Court street, pleaded not guilty to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor when arraigned yesterday afternoon. His hearing was set for this afternoon and he was placed under $500 bond. He was arrested yesterday afternoon by police in a raid on 140 Court street. A quart of alleged intoxicating liquor, glasses, a funnel and jugs were confiscated, police say.



When a Child is FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 170 Varick St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.—Adv.

ANSWER CALL

Twenty-Seven Respond to Altar Invitation at Revival.

The number of responses to the altar call during revival services at Wesley M. E. church reached 27 last night with one response following Rev. W. Martell George's sermon on "Where Do You Live?"

The Women's Bible class will attend the services tonight in a body. Rev. George will preach on "The Coming of Our Lord."

Rev. George said in his sermon last night.

"Our God is a great builder He is one who is constructive. The building wasn't finished in the day of Genesis but will go on as long as there is life. Just as God called Adam and said, 'Where are you?', He calls every soul and 'Where are you?' 'Where do you live?'

"He is concerned about our salvation. Sin is the only difference between a Christian man and an un-Christian man. Nothing is a secret to the Almighty Father and He knows exactly where you live and exactly what your relationship is to Himself and His son Jesus Christ."

2 Men To Face Court Charges Here Today

Two men were to be arraigned in municipal court this morning following their arrest last night by police.

Ray Deiner, 25, of Bellefontaine avenue, was arrested on a charge of non-support brought against him by Margaret Deiner. She charges he has not provided for their two children since June 23, 1930.

Clarence Hildreth, 26, of 275 North State street is facing a charge of abandonment.

PICTURE OF GANG LIFE TO START AT OHIO WEDNESDAY

"Little Caesar" Shows Growth of Modern Underworld in Cities.

BY HALLIE HOUCK

GANGSTERS come to life. W. B. Burnett's spectacular and dynamic novel, "Little Ceasar" which comes to the Ohio Wednesday to play through Saturday, has been given meritous comment from every critic who has seen the picture.

Edward G. Robinson, a Roumanian by birth and a college man whose chief hobby has been the acquisition of many languages and much strange lore between his stage successes, is "Little Caesar," czar of gangland.

Douglas Fairbanks Jr. is a gang gigolo, who falls in love and to secure safety for himself and the girl he loves—but that's telling the climax of the picture.

"ONCE A SINNER" COMES TO MARION

"Once a Sinner," comes to the Marion Wednesday and Thursday, featuring that delightful English girl, Dorothy Mackaill with Joel McCrea, John Halliday and C. Henry Gordon in the supporting cast.

DOROTHY MACKAILL

Ninette Faro, French siren, plays the role of "Sandra" in the production. Mlle. Faro made her first screen appearance in this country with Pola Negri in "Shadows of Paris."

The picture is based of a story, adaption and dialog by George Middleton, studio executive Guthrie McClintic, the director, also stepped in and took the part of a hotel clerk when an extra failed to respond to directing.

From reading advance dope we gather that "Once a Sinner" is based on the question, "Should a man know hi sbride-to-be's past?"

How to Escape FLU

1 Avoid so far as possible the places where flu germs are most likely to be spread; overcrowded cars and public meeting places; overheated, stuffy rooms.

2 Be careful of close contact with others and beware of all coughers and sneezers; breathe through the nose, get fresh air, but avoid drafts or chilling.

3 Get lots of rest. Eat plenty of citrus fruits. Keep the bowels open. Take extra precaution to keep in good physical condition, so your system will have high resistance against germs.

4 Above all, avoid catching colds. They lower your resistance to the flu germ. Ward them off. At the first sign of any cold, take Bayer Aspirin and remain indoors if possible until your cold is gone. If you have a sore throat, dissolve some Bayer Aspirin tablets in water and gargle; this will relieve the soreness and reduce the inflammation.

5 If you have any reason to suspect even a touch of flu, call your doctor at once.

Another notice has been given out concerning the filling out of federal income tax blanks. Somebody is always taking the joy out of life.

"Power Trust Is Chief Issue for Radical Attack," reads a headline over a Washington story. It might be interesting to know just what is the "power trust."

Treasurer Nutt of the Republican national committee says Senator Blaine, of Wisconsin, is loose-tongued, which will strike a lot of people as a mighty conservative statement.

There were 35,687 arrests in the United States from July 1, 1930, to January 31 of this year on charges of violation of the liquor law. Really, it looks as though some of the offenders must have been missed.

Three are burned to death when an automobile is driven into a freight train near Toledo, and a motorist is killed and his companion badly injured when the former drives his car into a train at Darien, Wisconsin. When will motorists with a longing to knock trains off the track learn that it can't be done?

The British house of commons rejected a prohibition bill by a vote of 137 to eighteen. It doesn't look as though there is much chance for Britain to be transformed into a desert over night in the near future.

A bill has been introduced in the Iowa state senate to bar from the screen any movie depicting a crime or suggesting infidelity. Why can't legislators get next to the fact that it's the glorification of crime and infidelity which should be barred, rather than the depicting of crime and infidelity with the punishments which usually follow them?

Three armed bandits overpower twenty employes of a Cleveland dairy and get away with $1,803. The Forest City may not lead the country in the hold-up industry, but take it from us, its criminal element is mighty persevering.

The Cleveland chamber of commerce recommends that the tools and machinery of manufacturers and their inventories of both raw materials and manufactured articles, and the implements and inventories of farmers be freed from taxation or that they be taxed at no higher rate than that imposed on such property down in Kentucky. Why not free the presses and typesetting machines of newspapers and keep right on through the entire industrial line? Why not pick the wherewithal to meet the cost of government off trees?

"The Show Must Go On."

The death of Lillian Leitzel is mourned in many lands. It is inconceivable that any of the millions who have witnessed her wonderful evolutions on a swaying ring high up in the circus top do not feel regret at the passing of this dainty embodiment of human symmetry and grace.

Miss Leitzel from her earliest childhood up to the time of the accident which resulted in her death Sunday was connected with the show world. Her mother and her grandmother were aerial performers before her and her husband, the great Mexican aerialist, Alfredo Cordona, of three somersault fame, is himself a featured performer.

Coming to this country at the age of seventeen twenty years ago as one of a quartet of women gymnasts, Lillian Pelikan quickly manifested ability beyond her companions and was soon on the way to stardom. It was not long until she not only became a featured star under the name of Lillian Leitzel, but also was acknowledged the queen of the circus world. She was recognized as such by circus performers and treated like a queen by her employers, having her own private car, her own maids and her own dressing-room wherever the show exhibited.

Miss Leitzel's supreme act was that of throwing her body, while suspended by one hand from a ring, over and over, using her shoulder as a pivot, time and time again, usually from seventy-five to eighty or a hundred times, but she had a record of 249. This she did performance after performance, until last Friday night, when, while she was putting on her act in the Valencia Music hall in Copenhagen, Denmark, the ring broke and she fell to the floor, the only protection over which was a thin rubber mat, forty-five feet below, and striking upon her head suffered concussion of the brain.

Cabled reports of the accident told of a horror-stricken audience quieted by Miss Leitzel's assurance that she was not badly hurt. If this be true, it goes to show that even in her striken condition she recognized the rule of the show world—that "the show must go on."

That Florida Jaunt.

If the disclosures concerning Senator Gerald P. Nye's luxurious tastes in traveling continue, the public is liable soon to begin to feel sorry for the North Dakotan, who has assumed the role of arch foe of extravagant expenditure on the part or in behalf of those seeking entrance into the legislative body which he graces.

Something like two weeks ago there was publication of the fact that the expenses of the senate campaign expenses investigating committee headed by the senator had been $96,500 up to that time, and that the committee had sought and been voted $50,000 for the continuation of its investigations. The total expended might not have excited so much comment as it did had it not been that the itemized account, which the senator charges was made public by his political foes to defeat him for reelection, showed alike lavishness in the employment of help and a predilection on the part of the committee for a better acquaintance with some of the beauty spots of America.

Now it is disclosed that Senator Nye, as chairman of the senate public lands committee, headed a seven-day Christmas holiday party into "Sunny Florida" at a cost to the general public of approximately $3,000 to investigate the fitness of the Florida Everglades to be made into a national park. Of the total expenditures, $1,687.50 was for a four-day yachting trip from Miami around the cape to the Everglades. The senator explains that the yachting trip would not have been so expensive had it not been that the yacht was too big to take up some of the Everglades bayous, making necessary the taking along of a seagoing power boat for that purpose. He further explains that government money was not expended for blimp rides over Miami or for fishing trips, these being courtesies extended by the people of Florida.

Senator Nye has expressed the belief that the expense of the Florida trip was made public by senators trying to undermine his influence before he moves to unseat Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania. Maybe so. Some of the bold, bad boys of the senate might put one over like that, especially since the other five members of the Florida junketing party were Senators Norbeck of South Dakota, Glenn of Illinois, Oddie of Nevada, Ashurst of Arizona and Walsh of Montana—four of them from west of the Mississippi and two of them, like Chairman Nye, radicals Still, assuming that such was the purpose of the disclosure, it would have been the course of wisdom on the part of the senator had he exercised care not to have indulged his taste for luxury to the extent he did, for it must be conceded that he has demonstrated beyond all question that he isn't any piker when traveling—at public expense.

Great Britain asks seven European nations to make a twenty-five per cent. reduction in their tariffs on her goods. Britain possibly figures that little is to be gained in this world without asking for it, so why not ask?

The nomination of Eugene Meyer as governor of the federal reserve board has been favorably reported to the senate by its committee on banking and currency with but three dissenting votes—those of Senator Brookhart of Iowa, Blaine of Wisconsin and Fletcher of Florida. The last named three probably figured that there was yet some chance to manufacture a little more political capital out of the nomination.

Statistics given out by the department of commerce in Washington show that there are 62,363 movie houses in the world, 22,731 of which are in this country. And yet the outside world continues to hold America lacking in appreciation of art!

The Wisconsin general assembly has been petitioned to change the law providing for the payment of a bounty on rattlesnake rattles, so that hereafter no bounty will be paid unless the rattles are attached to at least ten inches of the snake's tail, the discovery having been made that snakes are being deprived of their rattlers and then turned loose by snake hunters to propagate more rattlers. All the slickers are not located within urban limits.

It has been established that a total of $237,235 had been deposited in New York City banks during the last six years by a lieutenant of police of the Tenderloin district, in which there are 1,000 speakeasies, and by his mother, and that $147,246 of it had been withdrawn by checks to unidentified payees, arousing the suspicion that the latter total had gone to higher-ups. It's becoming awfully easy to understand why prohibition doesn't prohibit.

Fifty men armed with about everything in the line of firearms from pistols to machine guns and supposed to be New Yorkers planning to muscle in on the Detroit liquor game were arrested in Monroe, Michigan. Michigan evidently believes in the protection of home industries.

The mutilated currency of a face value of $806,000 stolen by thugs in Washington after they had beaten up the mail clerk in whose charge it was was found in an alley there together with a dozen boxes of shotgun shells and a section of lead pipe where it had been dumped by the thugs when they realized the worthlessness of the currency. To have made the joke on the thugs complete, they should have pulled their job off on the 1st of April.

Senator Norris, according to a Washington dispatch, sees a joker in the new Muscle Shoals plan proposed by the house conferees. The senator possibly also sees in any plan other than his own a menace to the prestige he might gain by putting his over.

Representative James M. Beck of Pennsylvania, opposing the maternity bill, asks: "Is it good governmental business to take tax money from a bachelor in Eureka, Minnesota, put it in the treasury here at Washington, and then pour it back into a baby's cradle in, say Jefferson City, Missouri?" It might possibly be excused, James, in the line of penalization of men who are so unheeding of the feelings of the other sex as to refuse to rescue girls from lives of disappointment and regret.

THE PRINCE A-WOOING GOES.

Editorial Opinion.

CHARACTER ASSASSINATION.

Congressman Franklin Fort is urging upon the house of representatives in Washington a change of rules that will make it possible for a committee of the house to question any member with respect to any resolution or bill he introduces and any speech or press statement he makes.

The desirability of such a change of rules is sufficiently illustrated by its sponsor's statement: "Under the present rules I can call a man a thief on the floor of the house and that statement will get wide circulation in the Congressional Record and the press; but he has no chance even to ask me why I said it." Congressman Fort wants a new committee created which shall have the power to interrogate and, we presume, to recommend the disciplining of members who abuse their constitutional immunity by indulging in defamation and slander of private citizens.

A member of the house may now be called to account by his colleagues for remarks on the floor derogatory of another member. The public at large has no such protection. Any member of either branch of congress can make any statement he likes, whether true or false, about any person who is not a member of congress without the aggrieved party being able to question him respecting it. The constitutional provision permitting him to do so is wise, as the necessary freedom of discussion in the national legislature would be seriously abridged if a senator or congressman were liable to be questioned for his statements by private parties; but it is expected that this privilege will be exercised wisely.

The flagrant extent to which this immunity has been abused demands some sort of curb. There is nothing in the constitution to prevent either chamber of congress from holding its own members to accuracy in their statements, with respect to outsiders, as well as to other members. The enactment of the rule proposed by Congressman Fort would exercise a salutary restraint on his colleagues' tongues. A similar rule is even more sadly needed in the senate, where character assassination has been carried to a point that makes the practice of referring to senators as "gentlemen" from this or that state, a meaningless concession to parliamentary tradition.—Detroit Free Press.

GENERAL EDWARDS.

No officer who served in the A. E. F. will be more deeply mourned than Major General Clarence R. Edwards, former commander of the Twenty-Sixth "Yankee" division, who has just died in Boston. Indeed, it is hard to recall any officer who won the affection and admiration of his troops as General Edwards did—this admiration culminating in a "citation" from the troops of the division commending its chief. This capacity to inspire and lead is important in the commander of the most seasoned regulars; in a commander of civilian soldiers it is vital.

In addition to his personal magnetism General Edwards was endowed with such phenomenal vitality and expressed his views so freely that those in authority in France sometimes looked at him uneasily. Others were so blinded by these traits as to overlook General Edwards' unusually sound intelligence. Before the World war he had had a notable record as a soldier, having filled the important positions of chief of the bureau of insular affairs and commanding general at Panama with marked distinction.

When the war ended General Edwards retired to Massachusetts. No one had more popularity in the state than did he. Wherever he went his soldierly appearance and unfailing success with large crowds brought him applause. With these gifts it was noteworthy that he resisted the temptation, so strong with popular soldiers, of entering politics. Instead, he lived on his farm, spending part of his time, when over seventy years old, in riding peculiarly savage horses and in helping the men who had served under him. He lived his life with a gallant flourish. A splendid soldier has quitted the scene.—New York Herald Tribune.

Would Help a Lot.

If some of the members of the senate would follow the example of some of the members of the reichstag and would go and flock by themselves in another hall, a lot more business might be transacted in the chamber.—Detroit Free Press.

Run-Down Condition Invites Cold.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

We all sneeze and we all cough. Yet how many of us cover our mouths when we do this? Neglect of this little precaution is the main cause for most of the colds and winter ailments so common in this country.

Do you know that among every 1,000 men employed, there are more than a hundred cases of disability every year? This illness, whatever it is, lasts anywhere from one to eight days. More than half of this number are disabled because of diseases in the breathing organs. Among them are included colds, bronchitis, grippe, influenza and pneumonia.

Diseases of this type are spread by the spraying of the secretions of the nose and throat in coughing, sneezing, spitting and talking. People who are tired and are in run-down condition, when exposed to such dangers, quickly contract the infection. In their turn, they spread it to others.

Any person who has a cold and is in any way lowered in health should keep away from crowds. Children who have colds should be kept home and not be permitted to attend classes. By insisting on this rule, not only will they get well quicker, but they will not be a source of danger to other children.

Sneezing or coughing in such a way as to spread infection should be avoided. Always attempt to catch a sneeze in a handkerchief. If you have a cold do not talk into people's faces. By no means go close to a child if you have a cold.

The common habit of embracing and kissing children has led to many infections that could have been prevented. This applies to so serious a disease as tuberculosis, too.

In spite of the numerous signs issued by local health bureaus, spitting is still a common vice in this country, and it is most dangerous to health.

We are too much concerned with the cure of these ailments rather than with their cause and possible prevention. We recall the well-known adage, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." Yet in this matter very few of us apply that wise rule.

Proper regard to the dangers from sneezing, coughing, spitting and talking will do much to better the public health. The diseases I have mentioned today are preventable. They can not be prevented until the public will observe the simple rules of hygiene.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

MRS. D.W. Q—Will you tell me why my legs appear to swell during the daytime while at night they go down? What treatment would be helpful in this case?

A—This condition may be caused by a possible heart or kidney disturbance, although it is also possible that it is due to overexertion, such as long standing, walking, etc. Have an examination so that definite advice and treatment can be outlined.

• • •

MRS. B.F.R. Q—I have a rash on my arms, shoulders and back which is slightly itchy, occurring in light pink patches. When I become tanned in the summer, these patches remain light and are very noticeable. What would you advise?

A—This may be due to a form of eczema, although it would be difficult to make a definite diagnosis without seeing the existing condition. Why not see a skin specialist for examination and advice?

• • •

A.D. Q—What can I do for a pain in the area of the right lung? This has persisted for four years and seems relieved when I am careful of my diet and elimination. I have been examined but the doctor pays little attention to the pain, saying it is probably due to gas. Is this likely? I am afraid of lung trouble and am extremely nervous and high-pitched. Also troubled with constipation.

A—The pain is very likely due to gases—judging from the description of your symptoms. Eat more laxative food, take plenty of exercise in the open and keep your bowels open. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. An X-ray examination will definitely rule out the possibility of a lung condition.

• • •

H.N. Q—How can I gain weight?

A—Eat plenty of good nourishing food, including milk, eggs, fresh fruits and vegetables, cereals and plenty of water between meals. Sleep as many hours as possible. Avoid worry and overfatigue.—Copyright, 1931, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

The Ever-Growing Puzzle.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Until very recent years the greatest stress was laid upon specialism in all branches of learning. Only the specialist, we were assured, could accomplish anything of lasting value or fundamental importance toward lifting the veil from nature's face. Intensive research, narrowed concentration upon a specific problem, were universally prescribed as the indispensable means for the acquisition of new and important knowledge.

Let each investigator do his own valuable work in his own restricted field, and the results would be all that might be desired or hoped for.

Science in the twentieth century is beginning to rue that advice and to change its tune. The scientific discoveries now accumulating so rapidly raise a thousand puzzles while solving a hundred problems. The various sciences are becoming closer and closer allied; the connections between them are becoming more and more intimate.

It is no longer possible to remain a mere mathematician; it is necessary to take account of the new universe projected by Einstein. The straight line in nature, if sufficiently far produced, may be found to bend. The celestial wanderer noted as a possible comet in 1917 turns out in 1930 to be a ninth planet, far beyond the orbit of Neptune, the new planet, Pluto.

It is no longer possible to study the atom beneath the microscope or even in the laboratory alone. We study the atom on Mars or Neptune, even in a remote island universe, through the spectroscope, in order to discover its presence there.

Thus the intimate connection and inter-relation of all forms of life, matter and substance are being prominently brought to the fore. The man who studies what goes on inside the atom must know the cosmic laws of universal gravitation to understand the movement of electrons inside the atom.

The man who studies solar radiation, the incredible energy generated by the heat of the sun, must understand the principles governing the stripping and packing of atoms, which are now believed to give rise to such vast cosmic forces.

It is becoming increasingly important then, if we would be intelligent, to take the cosmic view of things. We must learn, as Fitzgerald reminded us, to think cosmically. We must view the universe as a whole, and see the intimate connection and underlying unity of all its parts.

For instance, let us consider our debt to the sun. Radiant energy proceeds from the sun, throughout all space, with the speed of light—roughly 186,000 miles per second. This velocity is one of the great constants of nature. Can we calculate the value or the "market price" of this radiant energy in both kilowatt-hours and dollars and cents?

It is computed that the earth receives about 160 tons of sunlight a day, to a value of $500,000,000 a pound. So that our power bill runs up to the huge total of $150,000,000 a day—at the rate at which electricity is sold nowadays. Fortunately our power bill is never presented for payment—as the saying is, it "runs into money."

From the beginning of time this bill, if presented, would stagger humanity and make the entire wealth of the world seem like thirty cents. For it is believed that the sun has been steadily on the job for at least ten thousand million years!—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

Stanton as a Hater.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

A story that illustrates the intense likes and dislikes of Edwin M. Stanton is told by the late A. K. McClure in his book, "Lincoln and Men of War Times." Pennsylvania, like most northern states, had provided a way for her soldiers to vote in the field, and a state commission was to go to the front to have charge. Governor Curtin had difficulty in securing desirable Democrats to secure appointments as commissioners, and asked McClure to designate one such. He recommended Jere McKibben, of Pittsburgh, a war Democrat who had had personal differences with Stanton dating back to the latter's residence in Pittsburgh, and he laughingly remarked that he undertook the work under fear that Stanton would "slap him into jail."

But he did accept, and sure enough Stanton arrested him, and when he reached Washington, and McClure was called by telegraph to that city by McKibben. McClure laid the matter before Lincoln, who understood it at once, for he had had trouble in securing promotion on merit for McKibben's four brothers, who were with the union army on the front, because of Stanton's determined opposition, but said it would be best not to free the prisoner without respectful conference with Stanton. He ordered him released on parole pending a hearing in the presence of Stanton next morning.

Stanton came and was furious, but it was evident he had no reason to question McKibben's loyalty, though he intimated that McClure had come to "get another rebel out of jail." Lincoln never said a word, and Stanton left saying he would further examine the matter and report. A little later McClure received a voluminous letter in which the secretary of war said in substance that he could not see his way to liberate McKibben, just as McClure had expected. Lincoln advised letting the matter stand as it was, and so McKibben continued to live under parole and performed his duty as a commissioner.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Feb. 17—Sem, celebrated Parisian caricaturist, has been a winter visitor to New York, following the trek of his author friend Paul Morand. At sixty-six, Sem is one of the figures to Americans visiting the French capital. Yet he speaks no English.

Where Americans group—on the Camel side of the Ritz, Harry's bar, Zelli's, Chez Florence, Louigi's or where-not—Sem usually drops in. He is known by no other name, if he has another not even intimates know it. His drawings are a national talent, like jazz in America.

In a manner, his caricatures suggest the unlovely etchings of Hogarth—raw and searing with realism. He has constantly shot arrows of contempt, although in later years mellowness triumphed somewhat over early bitterness. "After all," he philosophized, "one desires friends most of all."

Many cafe fights with those Sem offended enlivened the boulevards. There was that memorable luncheon at Ciro's when Fanny Ward walked over to Sem's table and dashed wine in his face. That day Sem's year book appeared, limning Miss Ward in a few strokes.

His limnings of Paris familiars causes him to retreat to the Brittany countryside annually until the furore dies. Sem had never been to New York or America before, and had no preconceived notions. He refused to read about the metropolis, preferring to form his own opinions.

He came to Paris from Marseilles, a funny little man, past forty. His chance was accidental. He took a cartoon to Henri Letellier, publisher of Le Journal, and one of the greatest sportsmen in France. He waited awhile, left his drawing and in sudden fright departed.

Letellier happened to glance at it among other things on his desk, rang for a secretary, and sent him flying after Sem. The caricaturist was two blocks away. He had decided not to return, but take an afternoon train for Marseilles.

• • •

Two of Sem's American friends have appeared at movie desks in Hollywood—Brent Woon and Jed Kiley. For ten years they were familiars in that pompous purlieu circling the Place Vendome. Indeed, Hollywood has its "Paris colony," which includes Lois Moran, Dorothy Mackaill, Wynn Holcomb, Claire Luce, Tom Barry and Lynn Starling.

Despite the failure of her black-face play, no actress this winter drew such a brilliant first-night audience as Ethel Barrymore. The event proved again the power of the Barrymore name. It was, too, probably the only premier of the season to collect eleven monocle wearers.

Fugitive romance is sought in odd nooks around New York. In a lonely reach of Central park the other frosty night a woe-begone young man sat on a bench gazing at the sky. Charles Hanson Towne, somewhat a poet himself, passed by. "A beautiful night," he observed.

"But not a star," sighed the youth, "to hang a dream upon."

She was a lithe, exquisite creature with a pantherine walk—you know, the sort in whose hands you feel you would be so much wax—and all eyes turned upon her entrance into the spacious room. There was a jumbled vision of proud shoulders, mocking chin and long lashes. Some one broke the silence with: "You look superb, Anita!" In a rasping voice she countered: "All right, all right, but what do you do around here to get a drink—sing or dance?" New York!

Ten Centuries Slow.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

The San Blas Indians, who live on a chain of islands, which stretch three hundred miles from a point seventy miles south of the Atlantic gateway to the Panama canal, are little more than half savage.

They are so primitive they possess little pottery, and know nothing of firearms, and, despite their proximity to civilization, they are just beginning to wear clothes. These people are very small, averaging only four and a half feet in height. They have broad shoulders and sturdy bodies, undoubtedly because they spend their lives in canoes and in hunting and fishing.

The women are even shorter than the men and quite good looking, despite the nose-rings which even the littlest girls wear. Though at first shy, they soon make friends with the infrequent white visitors, and offer gifts of coconuts, papaya and bananas.

Besides the large nose-rings, these women wear gold earrings. Sometimes these are very large. It is believed the gold is found in the hilly sections of the islands, but no white man has ever been able to locate these mines.

Perhaps the most curious thing about the lives of the San Blas Indian tribes is their marriage ceremony. Both sexes mature at the early age of eleven or twelve.

The bride-to-be makes her debut with a four or five-day bathing ceremony, then is given a great feast. Next, her father, without her knowledge or consent, chooses a young man for her. If the youthful gentleman's parents are agreeable to a match, all the males of the village are informed of the coming nuptials.

They pounce upon the unsuspecting groom, carry him to the girl's house, dump him into her hammock and swing him until he tears out. He is splashed with water, leaves by the back door, enters again through the front door. When this is repeated four times, he is regarded as married.

rested improperly and was denied the right to consult with his attorney.

New Witness Found

Meanwhile in Cleveland another witness was found who said Martin was in Cleveland the day Potter was shot to death in an East Side apartment. Raymond Boltz, a clerk, employed by the Cleveland Automobile club said he saw Martin in a downtown hotel and heard a companion address him as "Hymie." The hotel is on the same corner where Traffic Patrolman Andrew Bessick said he saw Potter, Martin and another man the same day.

The city council offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Potter's killer, providing the slaying revealed new facts in the playground purchase of two years ago in which the city was defrauded of $33,000. Potter was twice tried and acquitted of participation in the deal and was facing a perjury trial when he was slain. The Cleveland News has offered a $5,000 reward and the local Bricklayers and Stone Masons union, of which Potter was a member, one of $1,000

Polonofsky Released

Police also questioned Solomon Polonofsky, Steubenville associate of Martin who obtained Ohio license plates for Martin's automobile. Polonofsky said he met Martin in Pittsburgh Feb 4, the day after Potter was killed, and was then asked to get the plates. Previously he told Steubenville police he received the request by telephone, police asserted. Polonofsky was released today.

The search for Mary Outland Woodfield, known as Martin's sweetheart, was continued, but Detective Inspector Cornelius W. Cody said he had abandoned the belief she was the blond woman seen in the murder suite a day or two before the killing.

SENATE HEARS REPEAL PLAN

Wagner Submits New Proposal Intended To Prevent Return of Saloon.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—Asserting the Wickersham report was "the beginning of the end" of prohibition, Senator Wagner, Democrat, of New York, today proposed a plan for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, calculated to prevent return of the saloon.

The New Yorker, in a carefully prepared speech to the senate, advocated repeal of the prohibition amendment with concurrent action by non-prohibition states "to insure the conservation of the one achievement of national prohibition"—abolition of the saloon.

Asserts Requirements Met

He said his plan, a brand new proposal for solution of the liquor problem, would meet every ultimate requirement laid down by the Wickersham commission and would remove the law enforcement group's single objection to outright repeal

Wagner's speech, coming on the heels of a warm debate on prohibition among Democratic senators, emphasized the conflicting views within the party which may come to a head when it attempts to adopt a platform for next year's presidential race.

"Repeal is the order of the day," Wagner said. "It is too late for revision. Public opinion has already passed that post. It is now headed straight for repeal. • • •

"I have listened with patience to the repeated assertions upon this floor of the doctrine of impossibility. You tell me repeal is impossible I answer you it is inevitable. You tell me that a small minority of the states can prevent it. I know they can but I am sure they will not."

Sees Fear of Saloon

Wagner said the Wickersham commission would have recommended outright repeal if it had followed its own logic except for fear of the saloon's return

Assurance that this would not happen could be given, he said, by constitutional amendments in the wet states barring that form of liquor sale or by other similar methods, he outlined. This, he held, would clear the way for outright repeal

ROBS PASSENGERS

Lone Gunman Stages Hold Up on Limited Train in Georgia

By The Associated Press.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 17—Seven passengers lounging in the observation car of the south-bound New York-New Orleans Crescent Limited as it speeded through Georgia last night were held up and robbed of approximately $300 by a lone two gun bandit who escaped in an exchange of shots with a flagman.

The robbery occurred between Newman and Moreland, Ga., at 7:20 p. m. Passengers credited M. Pierce, a Pullman porter, with keeping the robber out of the dining car where the steward had more than $1,000 in his cash account. Pierce, noting the robbery while it was in progress, crawled on his hands and knees to lock the forward door of the observation car.

SKIRTS AND HAIR LONGER FOR 1931

BEIGE BAG, SUEDE GLOVES, SPORT NECKLACE & NOVELTY BEADS AND MATCHING BRACELET.

HATS ARE GETTING SMALLER A 1900 MODEL

LONGER AND MORE DRESSY SPORTS COSTUME.

LONG HAIR AND CURLS ARE COMING IN

FLOWERED TAFFETA, WAIST LINE IS FLEEING SHOULDER

JUST because the chill winds of Winter are singing their shrill song, it is most suitable to dwell on lovely Spring clothes and 1931 fashions in general, and so to the accompaniment of a Winter storm we will offer a few predictions and pointers about the coming sartorial scheme of things

First of all, and most important, skirts and hair are to be longer for 1931. That is if the prophecies of the leading French couturiers mean anything. And they generally do. For dressmakers rarely create absolutely new styles. They cleverly discern the drift of the tide and have an uncanny way of fathoming the secret sartorial desires of women. Like other artists, their art must be subservient to the demands imposed upon it. Thus Paris knew just when woman had about become weary of seeing herself attenuated, skimpy frocks and was longing to bedeck herself in exquisite feminine clothes again. And so, the lovely fashion at present obtaining.

• • •

BUT to get back to hair and the length of skirts Morning frocks and skirts will have skirts of sensible length and a width suitable for ease in walking But afternoon frocks will be quite long, and there should be barely a glimpse of the leg at afternoon functions It just won't look right. And the all-sports costume will not be seen for some time even for morning wear. For the trend is all to the dressier type of clothes with tailored frocks with sensible skirts and accompanying jackets for general day wear and long, dressy frocks for formal afternoon and informal evening wear at a restaurant when one's escort is still wearing a "business" outfit

And now for the head. Hair is lengthening, the curls are coming in. All sorts of jewelled fancies are obtainable for holding the glowing curls in order, and gems in the hair always mean a more ornate headdress. In Paris they are talking of aigrettes and feathers in the coiffure with the elaborate evening costume.

• • •

IT is predicted that the tailored suit will be of increasing importance this spring These suits will be worn with dainty lingerie blouses—the kind that needs so much attention in the laundering line. But it can't be helped, it's the mode The afternoon frock of silk or other fabric will have its own little coat. And so it would seem that the top coat will be restricted to sport, travel and general utility wear. Of course there are always women who favor the dress and coat costume for both formal and informal day wear and they no doubt will continue to favor their preference

The smart woman too will welcome these changes because she was getting a little tired of the endless ensembles to be found even in the cheapest shops The ensemble began as a costly fashion, but directly it was a case of mass production for this style the woman who wants clothes that are "different" began to long for something else And so she is turning to the suit and will most likely gladly welcome the lingerie blouse with all the care it entails

• • •

MANY dressmakers believe that blue is to be the favorite spring color. It usually comes into favor when the tailored suit becomes important, it has been noticed Black will be used alone of course, but will also be much seen combined with turquoise blue and pale pink Green, too, will be favored It certainly is a most appropriate shade for the vernal season Later in the winter various shades of brown will be in prominence

And now for some real news Paris is turning to sleeves for evening use That is for any but the absolutely formal gown Chanel is showing dinner dresses with long, graceful sleeves that are loose from the elbow These frocks are in chiffon and favor bright colors Many of the Spring sports blouses will have sleeves that stop just short of the elbow All in all, although skirts will be long, the general silhouette will be more youthful than ever And hats will be either very small or quite large

DIVERGENT OPINIONS FOUND IN DRY LAW

National Prohibition Convention Proposal Brings Out Conflicting Views.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 17 — Divergent opinions on the prohibition question were found in three letters received by State Senator L. L. Marshall, (R) of Cleveland, which will be presented to the senate judiciary committee Wednesday night at the hearing of the Marshall resolution petitioning congress to call a national constitutional convention on the problem.

The letters were from U. S. Senator Smith W. Brookhart (R) of Iowa, Joseph R. Nutt of Cleveland, treasurer of the Republican national committee, and Henry W. Anderson of Richmond, Va., member of the Wickersham commission

Anderson, author of the minority report of the Wickersham committee, declined to state his position on the question He advised the senator that his views were set forth in the report of the Wickersham committee

Announcing a favorable attitude towards calling a national convention Nutt wrote "I hope it will be passed Your plan takes the liquor question out of politics as it should be, and gives all the people a chance to express themselves You have mapped out the right course to follow

Senator Brookhart took the opposite view stating that "I have no confidence in the convention It never has represented the voice of the people, and I think never will

The letters answered invitations of Senator Marshall for opinions from a number of prominent political leaders of the country on his proposal for a national constitutional convention to consider the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and possible amendments to the Constitution of the United States.

False Hopes on Excess Fat

Some Ways Harmful—Some Absurd

Many false helps are offered to the overfat. Some are harmful, some absurd. All disappoint. Do what modern doctors do. They combat the gland cause. It is time to end the fakes in this line, for the good of all.

Your Doctor Knows Best

Medical science has discovered that a great cause of excess fat lies in a weakened gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. One function is to help change food into fuel and energy rather than into fat. People grow over-fat, despite diet and activity, if that gland secretion is scant.

That theory is now accepted the world over. So modern physicians everywhere combat that cause. They do this by feeding the over-fat the factor which is lacking. No starvation, no over-exercise, no harmful drugs. The results in late years have amazed the world. Excess fat has been fast disappearing. Slender figures are the vogue. New health, new beauty, new joy, new efficiency have come to countless people.

This is to urge that you use what doctors use, not what they denounce.

Basis of Marmola

Marmola prescription tablets supply this new, this scientific help. They are prepared by a world-famous medical laboratory to fit the average case. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. Users have told others, and the use has grown.

All folks know how excess fat has been going in those years. All can see in every circle how slender figures reign. It is evident that the world has found a new way to fight fat.

Now Fat is Folly

Excess fat has now rarely an excuse. That blight to beauty, health and vim has found a scientific foe. It is easy to combat a major cause, and multitudes have proved it.

Take four Marmola tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. Be moderate in all things, but don't starve, don't over-do. Fight fat in Nature's way, by supplying what Nature is failing to supply. You will then be doing what the best physicians do today.

Formula in Box

Marmola has no secrets. The formula appears in every box. A book explains the reason for results. You will know what you are taking and why.

As the pounds drop away there come other results—all explained in the book. New health, new vitality. The gland secretion which fights fat inspires other ductless glands. The good results are often far-reaching and amazing.

Marmola is supplied by druggists—$1 a box. Go try it, read the book in box, then watch results. Stop foolish treatments—do the right thing. Then, when you get the results you seek, tell other folks who need it. Go start today.

THE CRIME IN THE DUTCH GARDEN

BY HERBERT ADAMS

(Copyright, 1930, J. B. Lippincott Co.)

CHAPTER 18

Audrey's Secret

THE funeral of Annabelle Querdling would in any case have been an outstanding local event, for the remarkable circumstances of her death and the inscrutable mystery that enveloped it brought together an enormous concourse to witness the burial. The shops in the village were closed and the streets were lined with people from the surrounding districts who were unable to find accommodation in the little church.

Afterward, Nancy and Jimmie went in the service from the Wade home, where Jimmie had just received a 'phone invitation to play golf with Audrey Winford the next morning. As they walked toward the church, Jimmie speculated vainly as to what message she had for him.

They were in the church now, witnessing the simple service, without flowers or display, decreed in the mysterious missing will that now had assumed such an important place in the mystery. The vicar had on the Sunday before paid his respects to the lady of Marrow Craig and he did not repeat his eulogy. There was one hymn and then the casket was carried to the churchyard.

Marjorie, Evelyn and Vincent stood by the graveside as curious glances of sympathy, envy or doubt were cast their way. The story of Vincent's evening visit had become known and the suggestion that Marjorie and Dr. Netherton could tell more if they chose was widely felt.

Both Marjorie and Evelyn bore themselves with simple dignity. Their mourning dresses emphasized their pallor and they seemed hardly aware of their surroundings. Vincent looked more self-conscious. Lionel Duckworth and Mr. Morgan were close behind the chief mourners. Major Gresham was with them. Nearby stood Captain Stirling. Bill Netherton was present, but in the background. All the servants from Merrow Craig attended.

After the last word had been spoken by the vicar and the crowd moved away, Jimmie came across the lawyer, Morgan, and asked if he had news of the missing will. Nothing had been learned, he said, at the bank or elsewhere and steps to establish an intestacy would likely be taken soon, the family meanwhile remaining at the house.

Nancy had promised Mrs. Netherton to bring Jimmie over later in the day and it was pleasant to receive her hospitality at Corner-Cottage and to put aside the sad recollections of the funeral. Her visitors admired her little house and her garden blazing with bright blossoms, while as tea was served she talked to them happily about many matters. But it was inevitable that the conversation should turn, sooner or later, to the one engrossing local topic.

"I did not go to the funeral," she told them. "Poor Annabelle Querdling. A sad end for her, and a sad beginning for the girls. Bill told me about the inquest. He thought Dr. Burbeck very long-winded."

Jimmie wondered what exactly Bill had said. He thought it probable the old lady had been spared an account of the hardly veiled insinuations against her boy. Her indignation would have been far stronger had she even suspected them.

"Oh, there you are, Bill," said Mrs. Netherton as her son crossed the lawn. He sat by them as tea was poured, but after a few polite remarks lapsed into a preoccupied silence.

"Anything special in your rounds today—meet anybody?" Mrs. Netherton asked.

"No." Then with some sort of an effort, he pulled himself together and smiled at her. "Just the trivial round, the common task, you know."

Jimmie thought there was a hardness in his expression that had not been there before. What was the cause of it?

"If you please, Miss Blake is on the telephone." The maid came from the house with the message.

"Oh, it is Marjorie, Bill. She rang up before. Poor child! I wonder what she wants. I hope no one is ill."

The old lady's tone showed she was entirely unaware of the rumors that connected her son's name with that of their pretty neighbor. Jimmie, too, wondered what Marjorie wanted. Possibly, if he knew that, he would be nearer to the complete solution of the problem that baffled them. Ill, she perhaps was, but mental distress rather than physical seemed likely.

There was no explanation of her call. Bill rose at once and went into the house. Apparently he remained in his surgery, for he had not reappeared when Jimmie and Nancy left.

The next morning, Jimmie and Audrey arrived on the golf course at the same moment. It was quite early, 6:30, for they had arranged to play nine holes before breakfast with the Wades and finish afterward so as not to interfere with an appointment Jimmie had with Richmond.

The conversation was pleasant and the game interesting, but it was plain to Jimmie that Audrey's mind was not really on her game. At the sixth tee she admitted it.

"Mr. Haswell," she said, "do you know what the people in the village are saying about Bill Netherton?"

"Do you mean in connection with Miss Querdling's death?"

"Yes. They say he killed her."

"You heard what the coroner said," Jimmie began after they had sat down on a bench near the tee. "It's not surprising the villagers should jump to a conclusion."

"But it is wrong. It is wicked. They have no right to say or think such things. Bill has done his best for them. He is a far better man than they deserve. Yet they are ready to believe all the beastliness that that man hinted it. And it means that Bill will be ruined and his practice wrecked."

As she spoke she jabbed savagely at the ground with her club.

"Not when the truth is discovered, if he is innocent," Jimmie reminded her.

"That is why I wanted to talk with you, Mr. Haswell." She turned her honest, pleading eyes to him. "Can't you clear this up for us?"

"I should like to, but do not get much help." He was smiling kindly as he spoke. "When Bill Netherton is called to a case he asks his patient where the pain is, and a score of other things as to symptoms and general condition. If the patient refuses to tell him, how can a correct diagnosis be made. So, if our friends will not tell us all they know in an affair like this, how are we to help them?"

"What exactly do you want to know?" asked the girl.

"The first thing is, does Netherton care for Marjorie Blake; does Marjorie care for him?"

"They answered that. They both said No."

"I am aware they did. Yet neither of them explained their frequent meetings, the impression they gave to Aunt Annabelle, and their long conversation after they left her. They had been sweethearts, it is said. What more natural than that they should be sweethearts again, when they meet so often?" He knew he was quoting Superintendent Richmond, but he wanted the answer that he thought this girl might be able to give.

For some moments Audrey was silent. She seemed to be weighing things and coming to a decision. What could be on her mind? Certainly Jimmie sensed its importance and understood now why Audrey had asked him to play.

Her hesitancy now convinced him even more strongly that what she had to tell him would not be easy to impart. Finally she spoke.

"I have called you in," she said, smiling bravely, "and I will not keep back any of the symptoms that I know of. I will tell you what no one else has been told. It is impossible for Bill to care for Marjorie in the way you think—because he is engaged to me."

To Be Continued.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Harry's Investigation Reveals a Message from the Bandits.

NEITHER Lillian nor I uttered a sound as we saw Harry Underwood run swiftly away from the "dud" which he had just thrust into the bucket of water, but her hand gripped mine so hard that I bore the mark long after. Then my father spoke with quick reassurance.

"That doesn't necessarily mean he expects an explosion. It's only the usual precaution which anyone but a foolhardy and inexperienced person would employ. You will see him return to it in a short time."

And, indeed, it was but two or three minutes before we saw him walking toward the water bucket again. He peered into it, then reached in and took out the dud. Then he waved his hand with the signal he had agreed upon with Lillian.

"You can unlock that door now," she said, and though she tried to make her voice calm, there was a tremolo note in it which betrayed the tremendous strain which had just been lifted by her husband's gesture.

I took the key with a feeling of distinct depression. There would be no rapturous heights of emotion for me when I should open that closet door, for I knew I should face an exceedingly angry man who would not hesitate to empty the vials of his wrath upon the nearest person, and in the first ebullition of his anger would not remember to rein in his temper as he had done ever since I told him of the promise of the baby daughter now sleeping safely upstairs.

But I could not always dwell upon the heights. I reminded myself, as I walked steadily to the closet door. Dicky was still in ignorance of what was happening in the field, and while I was still a little distance from the door I called loudly:

"It's all right, Dicky. Harry's safe, and he wants you."

I was conscious that my voice was quavering and threatening to break. But I could not help it. I was at the end of my endurance and I had all I could do to stand erect and brace myself to endure my husband's certain anger as I unlocked the door, unbolted it and threw it open, to see—

Dicky bent double with laughter as gargantuan as it was unexpected to me! I realized, of course, that his emotion while in the closet had been as much horrible anxiety for his friend as wrath against him for the way in which he had made it impossible for Dicky to go with him into danger, and that his rebound into mirth was as much nervous reaction as the quavering of my voice and the trembling of my body. But I leaned against the newel, utterly spent as Dicky chortled and smote his knee with his fist, the while he sent gurgling maledictions in the general direction of his friend.

Madge Spent With Excitement

"The eternally blistered old son of a sea cook!" he said. "He must have been planning this stunt out ever since Dad said that dud would have to be looked after again. Wait till this is over. What I'll do to him. The only trouble is that once I've laughed, I can't stay properly wrathful! Oh, sweetheart, what is it? I'm so sorry."

Something in my face and the way I was gripping the newel must have told him something of what I was feeling. And when his arms went around me and he murmured remorseful endearments with his face close to mine, I yielded utterly for a minute to the shelter he gave me and forgot that his friend was waiting for him, so thankful was I that I had been able to keep from breaking down utterly.

The sound of Lillian's voice calling, "Madge," sent us apart quickly.

"I mustn't wait, Sweetheart," Dick said, and I gave him an anxious little push.

"No, no! Hurry!" I exclaimed, and he dashed toward the door. I followed him swiftly, but not able, indeed, not trying, to keep up with him. When I reached the veranda, he was already half across the lawn, and then the two men were bending over the object in the bucket.

"Dicky was laughing when he went past us," Lillian said wonderingly.

"Yes, fortunately," I answered, dryly, and my father looked over at me quickly.

The Message

"Was he very much upset?" he asked anxiously. "That wasn't such a pleasant experience, but Underwood knew that I couldn't risk Richard twice."

"I think he was exceedingly angry and terribly anxious until I called to him that Harry was all right," I said. "Then the reaction sent him into gusts of laughter. He'll be all right now."

"I'm so glad." Lillian sighed contentedly. "They've both been such bricks, it would have been too bad to have had any 'rift within the lute.' Look! They're coming back, and Harry has emptied all of the water out of the bucket. The thing mustn't be dangerous at all."

But that it was highly significant to all of us, we realized when the two men came up to the steps, and Harry Underwood said deferentially to my father:

"You called the turn, Chief. There is a message inside."

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TODAY was Tuesday, so the week is partly gone already. It is further gone than it was when I kicked Jubilee out of bed this morning, and it will be further gone in the morning than it is tonight. Time is kinda funny that way. If the whole world went to sleep it would keep right on going. I bet it wouldn't though if everyone stopped all the clocks in the world before they went to sleep. I must have brains to think deep thoughts like that.

It was cold when I woke up and told Jubilee that it was time to get up. He wiggled further under the cover like he would like to stay there all day. I told him maybe he thought he was in bad luck belonging to a fella that had to get up early to milk cows so he couldn't stay in bed longer. But I told him if he didn't belong to me he wouldn't have no bed at all. It don't do so much good to tell him things. He looks wise and wags his tail and that is all there is to it. He don't know what I say any more than a rabbit.

One time I was holding onto him and a big yellow and white tomcat was strutting its stuff acrost the yard and Jubilee was almost frothing at the mouth to get at it. I told him he better not catch that cat, but he kept pulling so I let him go and he caught him, and right then he learnt that he can't munky with me and get away with it. What I told him was for his own good, and the Tom proved it to him. He still chases cats and barks a lot but he don't chase them quite fast enough to catch them.

I was thinking about cats because the Lost Bag of Tripe's kid brother shut the kitchen door on their cat's tail yesterday, and the cat was giving a concert all by itself, and it was just saying, "The next numbah wile be——" when Red's kid brother went back to try to open the door, and when he got to where the cat could reach him it gave him everything it had. His mother was scairt and went out the front door and got the axe and killed the cat and chopped its head off and sent it to the doctors to see if it was made, and the doctors called her up and told her it wasn't. Doctors aren't so very brite if they think that cat wasn't mad. If it wasn't mad why did it bite and scratch the poor kid, just for a joke, I bet if them doctors was cats and had their tails caught in a door they'd be mad. It is a mean woman that would chop a cat's head off to find out if it was mad. I bet she was mad instead of the cat, and she wasn't caught in no door. A woman is like a grisly bear when you do anything to its young. I am glad it wasn't our cat.

I told the Lost Bag of Tripe the next time he gets mad I will chop off his head to see if he means it. He said if my head was chopped off I would lose the best part of myself—my mouth. I didn't catch him.
